( ARTICLE WRITTEN BY JIM STEELE, TAPS FOR VETERANS BUGLER, JACKSONVILLE, FL.)

‘EVERYDAY IS MEMORIAL DAY SOMEWHERE’

As I stand on a hillside overlooking Emmitsburg, Md., preparing to sound taps in tribute to my uncle, retired Navy Capt. John Henry Baker, I realize that everyday is Memorial Day somewhere. We set aside one day a year for a national day of remembrance, but across the country on any given day, there are taps buglers, honor guards, families and friends remembering and mourning someone.

For me, sounding taps is an immersive, soulful experience. Every note, every breath, every musical phrase must be from the heart, exact, respectful, reverent, and solid. There's no room for error, no going through the motions.

Over the years, I have sounded live taps hundreds of times; in national and local cemeteries, in churches, and American Legion halls, on ships and historic battlefields. Each occasion has been a personal statement of thanks and respect. As May begins, I'm preparing for three Vietnam Veterans Day ceremonies and know Memorial Day is fast approaching, with multiple ceremonies, too. Through it all, I await the unscheduled calls that will come for graveside or funeral taps of those called to their final duty station. Each is a Memorial Day for someone, and I will honor it as such.

“Four men, three faiths, one God. It was their underlying strength to do God's work, on that fateful February morning in 1943, that remains the reason why so many make a pilgrimage here.”

Patriots still travel to Saint Stephen's Church in Kearny, New Jersey, to pay tribute to four military chaplains: Rev. George Fox, Rabbi Alexander Goode, Fr. John Washington and Rev. Clark Poling who sacrificed their lives for their men. Each of them gave their life-jackets to fellow soldiers as their troop transport sank in the icy North Atlantic following a German U-boat attack. Inside the church is the Sanctuary of the Four Chaplains and outside a monument depicting the four men praying together on the Dorchester's deck as it sank.

A Time for Service

There are a number of projects to be completed around our church buildings and grounds that are in need of attention. We are planning two service days: Friday, May 23rd, 10:00 am until 4:00pm and Saturday, May, 24th, 10:00 am until 2:00 pm. There will be a sign-up 'to do' list in the church vestibule next weekend with the various jobs that need to be done. Come join us for one of our days of service at our church.

Pierogi for Sale

Pierogi are still available for purchase. We are the best deal in town only $12.00 per dozen. You can be pick some up this weekend after any mass. Thank you for your support with our pierogi sale.

The Unity of God the Father and Jesus

Jesus speaks in the Gospel this week how His self-giving love glorifies the Father, who in turn glorifies Him. He is teaching us that our self-giving will reflect God's glory. This is a very different perspective from what we understand and live by today. Our society glorifies the successful person, but Jesus asks us to live a life of self-giving love in service to others, which will glorify God. Jesus says: “I give you a new commandment: love one another. As I have loved you, so you also should Love one another.”
